Integrity has been a part of our culture since our story began in 1880. Today it is essential in our ambition to be the leading partner.

Dear Bekaert colleague,

Our ambition is to be the leading partner for shaping the way we live and move, and to always do this in a way that is safe, smart, sustainable.

At the heart of our culture and uniting us as one team is the belief that we are better together. It is part of how we work among our teams and with others. This is so integrated in our culture that we often hear it is part of what makes Bekaert unique as a company, employer, and partner. Better together also embodies our Values, which are the DNA of our company: Integrity, Trust, Agility, and Boldness.

We are responsible for creating and maintaining an ethical company culture, and for leading by example. Our Code of Conduct guides us in making the right decisions every day. The Code explains our commitments and expectations for employees and everyone who works on our behalf.

Together with integrity, we will build sustainable growth, create value for all our stakeholders, and contribute to a better tomorrow.

Thank you for following our Bekaert Code of Conduct today and every day.

Yves Kerstens,
CEO

We are all responsible

We comply with the Code of Conduct

Bekaert requires all employees, executive officers, and directors to comply with our Code of Conduct. We also expect our contractors, suppliers, and other business partners to uphold the same standards.

Each of us is responsible for staying true to our purpose, living our values, and following our Code. Together with integrity, we:

- comply with all laws and regulations that apply to our work
- read, understand, and follow our Code, and all other Bekaert policies and procedures
- ask questions and get help when we are unsure of the right thing to do
- Speak Up about possible violations of applicable regulations, and our Code.

Leaders also have a crucial role in creating and fostering a culture of ethics and compliance within their teams:

- Lead by example, acting as role models for ethical behavior
- Clearly state that how we behave is just as important as what we accomplish
- Encourage employees to raise questions and concerns
- Listen to concerns objectively and ensure they are handled appropriately
- Embrace behavior that aligns with our Values when hiring and evaluating employees.

We make ethical decisions

Whilst the Code provides guidance and principles, it does not cover every scenario you may face. If you are unsure, speak to your supervisor, Human Resources, Compliance, or Internal Audit team.

You can also use the following questions to help guide you in making ethical decisions.

Consider these additional questions if you are still unsure.

- How would my action look in tomorrow's newspaper?
- How would my friends, family, and colleagues view my decision?
- Would I want to be treated the same way?
- Am I asking the right people for advice?

We Speak Up

We always do what is right and Speak Up if we see something wrong

Speaking up if you see or suspect something wrong:

- protects our employees' wellbeing, Bekaert's community, reputation, and financial results
- identifies risks and areas for improvement
- helps us maintain an ethical, compliant, and safe work environment.

How to Speak Up if you see or suspect something wrong

Raise your concern in confidence as soon as you see or suspect something wrong:

- Speak to your supervisor, Human Resources, Compliance, or Internal Audit team.
- Report via the Speak Up channel, remaining anonymous if preferred.

You can be assured confidentiality will be maintained to every extent possible. Limited disclosures will be made only if needed to facilitate the investigation or where required by law.

What happens with a report?

We conduct thorough and fair investigations in confidence

When you file a report of suspected misconduct, the Group Ethics & Compliance department investigates it promptly. Bekaert expects employees to cooperate with investigations by providing accurate and complete information.

Consequences of non-compliance

When an investigation finds that misconduct has taken place, Bekaert will take disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment. Non-compliant actions can also result in fines or penalties imposed by external enforcement agencies.

Leading by example

Leaders are responsible for helping employees understand and live by our Code. If an employee raises an integrity concern with you:

- listen carefully and allow them to list all the facts
- act with empathy and thank them for having the courage to speak up
- inform them about the Integrity concern policy and Speak Up channels
- treat the conversation in confidence
- escalate the concern to Group Ethics and Compliance.

Retaliation is taking adverse action against someone who reports a concern. When reports are made in good faith, Bekaert prohibits retaliation and protects anyone who cooperates. Examples of retaliation include termination, suspension, demotion, intimidation, or harassment.
